

an unknown allowance

8 x 8 x 1.5 inches oil and collage on cradled panel

SOLD

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Ask a question about this product

Description

Original oil painting.

Unframed, cradled panel sides are finished with clear varnish.
Painting is wired and ready to hang.
Signed, titled and dated on back.

Sold works: an unknown allowance

Birds in art can be appreciated on many levels... on one level, the beauty of an individual bird species, their traits or intelligence or endurance... on another level, they can be seen symbolically as intermediaries or messengers between heaven and earth, or be part of a culture's myths and stories. Because of their migration, I also began to think of them as a metaphor for the journey in life, and frequently tie in navigational terms, phrases, or diagrams.

black capped chickadee, on branch with decorative motifs and white halo effect.

Tags: bird small works purple